Select DHMO – Texas

The Select DHMO Plan[1] from UnitedHealthcare Dental is an easy, cost-effective plan that provides access to high-quality dental care. You select a primary care dentist from our extensive network, and most preventive services are covered at 100%. Hundreds of other procedures are covered as well, including orthodontia.[2] Copayments are set, so you can plan for out-of-pocket expenses. What's more, there are no deductibles, waiting periods or annual maximums to worry about. It's a smart option for people who want a dental plan that offers broad choice and extensive coverage at a lower cost.

Choose your own primary care dentist.

With the Select DHMO Plan, you choose a primary care dentist from our extensive network, one of the broadest HMO-style networks in the greater Houston and Dallas-Fort Worth areas. Each family member covered by your plan can choose his or her dentist. Your primary care dentist will coordinate all your dental care. When needed, they will refer you to an in-network specialist.

In brief:

- Select a primary care dentist from our extensive network

- Most preventive services are covered at 100%, and hundreds of other procedures are covered as well, including orthodontia[2]

- Procedures have a set copayment, making it easy to plan for out-of-pocket expenses

Coverage for preventive care and much more, including orthodontia.

The Select DHMO Plan provides 100% coverage for routine cleanings, as well as oral exams, bitewing X-rays and fluoride treatments for children.

In addition, the plan offers extensive coverage for hundreds of other procedures, including orthodontia.[2] Procedures have a set copay, which is the amount you're responsible for at each visit. Since you know the copay ahead of time, you can plan for out-of-pocket expenses. If your dentist recommends a treatment not covered under the plan, or if you choose services or materials that aren't covered, there will be additional charges.
